Forecast for Sunday 29 May 2022

Weather: Largely clear skies through the early hours of Sunday but with the risk of some shallow mist and fog patches forming in valleys, although quick to clear once the sun rises. Cloud building through the morning, leading to some hazy sunshine but also the risk of occasional showers, heavy at times. The showers easing off into the evening with some clear periods developing.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 90% in the early hours and into the evening, falling to 70% during the day.

Low cloud and visibility: Cloud occasionally obscuring routes above 500m, most likely in association with showers, but otherwise mainly above summit level. Heavy showers will also reduce visibility for a time. Otherwise very good visibility is expected.

Forecast for Monday 30 May 2022

Weather: A mixture of clear spells and patchy cloud to begin the day. The cloud then becoming more widespread through the morning, though some bright spells are still possible. A risk of showers through the day, some of which may be heavy in the afternoon. Staying rather cloudy into the evening and night.

Maximum wind: 10mph westerly winds on the summits.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 70% through the day.

Low cloud and visibility: Cloud largely above the summits but may temporarily fall to 500m, often in connection with any showers, which will obscure higher routes. Good visibility is otherwise expected outside of any rain.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 6 Celsius, rising to plus 15 Celsius.
At 600m: Plus 4 Celsius, rising to plus 6 Celsius.
Freezing level: Just above the summits.
